PHONE GIRLS VOTE ON PEACE TERMS TOMORROW

STANDARD

VICTORY FOR THE GIRLS

The telephone strike which threatened to paralyze business in Greater Boston was averted today and both sides declared themselves happy at the preliminary agreement reached.

The 1,200 telephone operators in the main cities have won their demands. The telephone company agrees to a statement covering the strike of agreement and allows the public to know its own conditions.

The Chamber of Commerce, which has its assistance in reaching a settlement, is gratified at the end of the trouble. Mayor Fitzgerald is satisfied his efforts were crowned with success. The telephone company announces that the 1,200 girl strikebreakers imported here are going home.

The telephone operators' union agrees to a statement in which it declares the terms of settlement agreed upon by its executive committee. The girls will vote their opinion of the settlement at the meeting at No. 7 Ware street, their headquarters.

RETURN OF THE STRIKE-BREAKER

By MORTON BIRGE

I'm back from the Boston strike, Mother.
Back from the big hotels.
Believe me, none pay trip, Mother.
Living like Roman emperors.
Nothing to do till tomorrow
But hitting a life of ease.
Nothing but "vats" and "vats,"
And order up all you please.
Life in a flat seems tame, Mother.
Gimme the "strike de lare."
Gimme that dear Copley-Pham.
Under the roof with Tolson.
Back on the job tomorrow.
But Ma, for the love of Mike,
Call me till very minute.
You hear of another strike.

WIFE CHARGES DESERTION BY PASTOR; SUES

Alfred G. Dunne, wife of Rev. James P. Dunne, pastor of the Walnut Park M. E. Church, today filed suit for a divorce in the Suffolk Superior Court. In her plea, Mrs. Dunne says she was married in Malden on Dec. 18, 1902, and she lived in Boston with her husband until January 10, 1904, when she claims he deserted her.

Mrs. Dunne's complaint is that the pastor has been away from home for a period of eight months, and she claims that he has been living with another woman.

NEW YORK GOVERNOR'S MARRIAGE

Former Governor William L. Douglas of Brooklyn and Mrs. Alice Remondin at the Vatican on the Pacific coast yesterday during his night, although it had previously been announced that the patient had only brief seizures of sleep in the last forty-eight hours.

Dr. Amist denied that the Pope had shown symptoms of arthritis and declared that the sole trouble was due to a severe attack of influenza. He said the Pope's temperature was 97, and expressed the hope that he would be convalescent within a week.

At the same time a number of the Pope's personal entourage at the Vatican said that the condition of the Pontiff was substantially grave, and that great alarm was felt regarding the outcome.

At 8 o'clock a. m. it was announced that the condition of the Pontiff remained practically unchanged, that his temperature, which previously showed a few degrees of fever, was perfectly normal and his pulse regular. "At the same time it was added that the heart action was exceedingly weak and irregular, and that the asthmatic conditions, making it difficult for the patient to breathe, had not been overcome."

GOVERNOR'S MARRIAGE

When the time came to get the marriage license and make other arrangements Mr. Douglas was very cautious. He took out a marriage license at Brooklyn City Hall at 11 o'clock yesterday, but he refused to be taken to the altar.

In order not to wait for the expiration of the five-day wait, which the law imposes before a wedding ceremony, Mr. Douglas intended the aid of Judge Warren A. Reed of Brooklyn District Court. Judge Reed issued a permit for the marriage to take place before the five-day limit had expired.

They were present at the ceremony today. Among them were Mr. and Mrs. Henry H. Russell and Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. McDonald. They were guests of Mr. Douglas.

After breakfast followed the ceremony. Then Mr. Douglas and his bride departed in a limousine car for the residence where they planned to live. They will stay in New York a few days. Then they will sail for a long honeymoon trip through England and the Continent. They will not be back till July.

William Douglas Douglas, one of the most prominent men in Massachusetts, was born in New York City. He was a member of the Massachusetts legislature and a millionaire manufacturer.

MRS. CHESTER A. BOYNTON, the suit of whose husband against the Rev. William B. Ayers on an alienation charge is expected to reach the jury today.

Mrs. Boynton's testimony that she found her husband cuddling Miss Flora Sass in their home was one of the striking features during the trial.

DERIVES BOYNTON CHARGES

The Rev. William B. Ayers, pastor of the Park and Dover Church, Watertown, took the stand this afternoon in his own defense at the trial of the $25,000 suit brought against him by Chester A. Boynton who charges that Ayers alienated the affections of Mrs. Boynton.

Pastor Ayers who is young, clean shaven man, entered a general denial of the charges that he broke up the Boynton home.

Ayers admitted that he had been formerly a pastor before he entered the ministry and that he had had three wives, all of whom are dead.

The young pastor declared that his attitude toward Mrs. Boynton had simply been that of a pastor toward a sister friend or member of his congregation. He denied that he and Mrs. Boynton had taken their vacation together in Minneapolis.

For further details of the Ayers-Boynton trial and the testimony by Pastor Ayers, see page 11.

KELIHER LAUGHS AT WAR BY JAPAN

At a talk given last evening at the East Boston Young Men's Hebrew Association by Congressman John A. Keliher, he said that the idea of Japan bringing a war with the United States is absurd.

He said that Japan is still greatly in debt on account of her present war, and he said that he is still greatly in debt on account of her present war, and he said that he is still greatly in debt on account of her present war.

SIGNS VOLUNTARY ASSOCIATION BILL

Governor Ames has signed the bill requiring the transfer of voluntary associations to file annual statements with the comptroller of corporations, the same as public service and quasi-public corporations. Failure to comply carries a fine of not more than $500, or three months imprisonment.

WINDSOR CONVICT HIDES IN PRISON

WINDSOR, Vt., April 10.—John Winter, the convict supposed to have escaped from the Vermont State Prison on April 7, did not do so, but hid on the prison premises within the walls. He threw his cap over the prison wall and allowed his captors to see the walls and the authorities believe he had escaped.

TWO KILLED BY DERRICK FALL

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., April 10.—Two persons were killed instantly and several seriously injured, one of whom was finally carried in a huge iron derrier, and plunged into the ocean at the foot of New Jersey avenue.

TELEPHONE GIRLS CANNOT AFFORD TO REST OR TO BE ILL, SAYS BOSTON OPERATOR

Miss Mae Matthews, who is telling stories of the AMERICAN her story of experience as a telephone girl, has been an operator since she was sixteen.

Like many other operators Miss Matthews has used her spare time in preparing herself for a higher position in life. She has studied law and hopes soon to take the bar examinations.

In the third installment of her story today, Miss Matthews shows how a telephone girl "cannot afford to rest" the day.

My Own Story—III.

The Experiences of a Boston Telephone Girl.

By MISS MAE MATTHEWS.

Member Executive Board, Telephone Operators' Union.

Here all things, a telephone girl is made to realize that she must not indulge in the luxury of being ill.

We are all familiar with the expression, "I cannot afford to be ill."

In the case of the telephone girl this is a grim and emphatically true.

A telephone operator immediately CAN-

NOT afford to be ill. It comes out of her own pocket every time.

I am speaking now for the hundreds of my sister workers whose experience bears out what I say. I can tell of many who, because they gave way to physical weakness, even for a brief time, had to suffer such loss in their wages that they were not again able to give up, even though their condition demanded it.

This is the reason so many girls cannot stand the physical strain this work entails. They cannot AFFORD to give themselves the rest they require.

To go back to my story of yesterday, I told of my acting as night operator, working from 11 p. m. to 7 a. m. This sounds simple enough to the uninitiated, so devoid, the fact of being on night duty. I wonder how many have the faintest idea of what it involves?

There is no disputing the fact that a girl who works at night is not physically as fit for her work, or for living, as the girl who works day time. Day sleep is not the same as night sleep and no girl can keep up her best as she should when she is compelled to do night work.

Besides, it is almost impossible for her to get real rest under conditions likely to exist with her. She probably sleeps in a noisy neighborhood, with trucks and teams and cars going by all day, and her sleep is restless and broken.

Making Up Cards.

Just what is the night work of a telephone girl? I will try to explain. After twelve o'clock it comes out of her pocket every time.

It should be remembered that she must check these tickets in addition to looking after the calls that come in over the wire, and often she is doing both things at the same time.

Night time is the time for emergency calls—doctors, police, fire alarms, and so forth. I wonder if the public can imagine the responsibility resting on the operator when there are such calls as these?

One of the girls tells me that she is obliged to practically handle the case from beginning to end, in many instances, when some excited subscriber tries to get a doctor over the telephone.

Nearly always in such cases the subscriber is so panic stricken as to be helpless, and the telephone operator must actually do the work of getting the physician.

If she cannot get the name nearest the home of the sick person, she must try to get the next best, and she must keep on calling up doctor after doctor until she finally locates one who is available.

Girls Often Blamed.

She herself must look up the addresses and telephone numbers, for the public stricken one is naturally unable to attend to these details.

It is the operator who must actually handle the case, whether doctor or nurse or both are wanted, and who at the quest until the needed aid has really arrived at the home of the patient.

Sometimes the operator is held up three-quarters of an hour in trying to secure a doctor or a nurse for somebody. This of course keeps her from ticket work, but she must somehow manage to get those tickets ready by 6 or 6:30 in the morning, come what may.

One girl tells me that in spite of her most earnest efforts, she cannot always get help for the sick as quickly as the subscriber demands, and of course they are completely sent in to the chief operator. The subscriber will say: "I tried to get a physician last night and because of your operator's slowness or inattention, I couldn't succeed. I wish to report her conduct."

Buy at 5:30 A. M.

Four girls, if the subscriber could only see her struggling with all her might to secure the help without delay, perhaps she would understand!

It is the girl's fault when physicians and nurses are not at home, or not in season, for one reason or another? Yet it is the girl who gets all the blame.

I could cite many instances of this kind told me by my fellow-workers.

Then, too, many girls tell me of the absolute talk given to them over the wires at night. One girl says she must endure the abuse of men who swear and use offensive language. This, doubtless, is from that class of men who are intoxicated and who don't care what they say.

For the night operator, perhaps the most trying time comes at 5:30 A. M., for then the traffic starts and from that hour on is so heavy that usually twice the number of operators are required that are employed. This makes it extremely hard for the girl, already tired out from her work.

The girls say, too, that the electric lights are hard on their eyes and many who went into the work without glasses are now wearing them.

There are, however, some pleasant features about night work. The girls have a chance to know much other letter, for one thing, when they are on night duty. "Then, too, there are a few hours for sight."

service, which is to be considered. There are dangers, nevertheless, which can scarcely be compensated for when one considers their full meaning in the case of the unprotected girl. Take the young girl working at an exchange which brings her into the lower kind of neighborhood at night. Oxford exchange, for example, is in the worst sort of district. A girl must pass through streets where there are all sorts of men, and the danger is one that cannot be ignored.

Nervous Debility Is Caused by the Brain Losing Its Control Over the Organs of the Body Owing to the Excessive Mental as Well as Physical Strain That Is Part of the Hurried Existence That We All Are Living Now—a days.—Tona Vita Has Relieved Thousands.

The brain holds undisturbed sway over every organ of the human body. The smallest action cannot be made unless the brain wills it.

Nerves line every cell and tissue in the body. Disorders in any portion of the body will cause the nerves to get out of temporary control of the brain, and the result is pain.

Nervous debility, the ailment which Tona Vita is battling with such success, is due to overwork being crowded on the brain by the different organs of the body.

Maybe you are tired all day, but when the time comes to go to bed your brain refuses to rest, and sleep deserts you, and you wake up in the morning feeling more tired and depressed than when you went to bed. This is typical of nervous debility.

Among other common symptoms is that feeling of being run-down. You know you are sick, but you cannot exactly locate the trouble. You are morbid and depressed.

This is caused by working either the brain or the body overtime, and can readily be relieved by the new tonic, Tona Vita, which is being handled by all Boston druggists.

TELEPHONE STRIKE CRISIS IS SETTLED AFTER AN ALL NIGHT CONFERENCE

BOTH COMPANY AND THE GIRL OPERATORS ARE PLEASSED WITH COMPROMISE.

The telephone fight has been settled. There will be no strike of the 2,000 telephone operators in Greater Boston. The settlement came in an agreement reached at 5:55 a. m. today, after an all-night conference between the operators and the New England Telephone Company. Officials of the girls' union say they were won a partial victory. Both sides are satisfied with the agreement reached, which goes into effect June 1.

The agreement will be reported to the State Board of Arbitration today. The girls' union will vote tomorrow on the question of accepting the terms of the agreement. Acceptance will mean the end of the present controversy. Rejection by the union of the agreement would mean the possibility of a strike.

The union will vote in three shifts. The first will vote at No. 7 Warren street, the union headquarters. In the afternoon and evening the vote will be taken in Woll Memorial Hall.

The concessions offered by the company are: A raise of $25 will be given operators after the second year, $50 after the third year and every year up to the sixth year. After the tenth year, the lunch period will be one hour instead of forty-five minutes; a board of adjustment is arranged between the operators and the company.

The company does not recognize the union, give up the split shift, mention the eight-hour day with rest periods of fifteen minutes.

The Sunday, Saturday afternoon and holiday variations given to operators will be dependent upon "consistency with the requirements of the service."

United Efforts Won.

The adjustment came through the efforts of the Chairman of Commerce committee, representatives of the company, the Mayor, and the committee from the union, which met all night in the conference room in Young's Hotel. E. K. Hall of the telephone company upon the adjournment of the conference. Vice-President E. K. Hall made the following statement:

As soon as it appeared that there was a possibility of a strike, it became the duty of the company to take every possible precaution to prevent such a strike, should it occur, from causing inconvenience to anyone other than the parties to the controversy.

to wit, the company and certain of its employees.

In other words, it was the company's first duty to see to it that the public service was not annihilated or threatened, while the company and the employees were discussing their differences.

Accordingly, the company called an all-night conference with the girls' union. A sufficient number of trained operators to maintain service were there to see to it that the public service was not interrupted, even if a strike should occur.

The public interest having been taken care of, it is their business to adjust the differences between the company and its regular force.

A conference between a committee of the operators and the company officials began at once and has just now terminated. This morning, a what we hope will be found to be a generally satisfactory adjustment of the public really in controversy.

The discussions have been carried out in the most good natured way and the operators have shown a general good feeling all around. If this be the case, then the result is an extremely happy one for any result which was aimed with difference and resentment would fail to preserve the cordial relations between the company and its employees, which make the employment enjoyable and the service most efficient.

The good offices of certain representatives of the public service, to small part in reaching so speedy an adjustment. The striking operators and never failing tact of the Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, the wise, timely and steady advice of the Mayor, and the diplomatic treatment of the case by the State Board of Arbitration and Conciliation have all contributed to steady progress and the successful result.

TERMS AGREEABLE TO BOTH SIDES AND ALL ARE SATISFIED

Leaders in the conference have avowed a complete strike in Boston and resulted in a victory for the girls' union, which is holding the outcome as of far-reaching effect, as well as a great handicap for the business of the city.

Secretary McKibben of the Boston Chamber of Commerce gave out the following as the basis of the agreement:

(A) At the end of the second year, $25.

(B) At the end of the third year and thereafter up to and including the sixth year, $50.

(C) At the end of the tenth year and each year thereafter, $100.

A lunch period of one hour instead of forty-five minutes will be arranged, if desired by a majority of the operators and Sunday, holiday, and Saturday afternoon work will be so adjusted that each operator will have the maximum number of holidays, Sunday and Saturday afternoons off as the basis of the agreement.

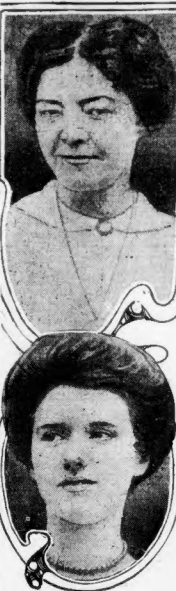

All the above shall become effective June 1, 1913.

ADJUSTMENT COMMITTEE.

An adjustment committee shall be created to consist of three members to be chosen by the operating force, from among its members, and three to be appointed by the general manager or president of the company, to consider and make a finding in reference to any grievance presented to it by any aggrieved member of the operating force.

There shall be the right of appeal from the finding of this committee by every party affected by it, and in case of a tie vote by three members of the committee, to the general manager and from the decision of the general manager to the President of the company.

PHONE GIRL LEADERS—at top, Annie E. Malloy, president of the operators' union; below, Mary C. Meagher, vice-president.

When the General Manager feels that the interests of the company demand it, he shall have the right to set aside or modify the decision of the committee; but in case of such action, the committee may appeal from the General Manager to the President. The adjustment committee shall be established April 21, 1913. All the above applies to the Boston Metropolitan District.

and from the decision of the General Manager to the President of the company.

When the General Manager feels that the interests of the company demand it, he shall have the right to set aside or modify the decision of the committee; but in case of such action, the committee may appeal from the General Manager to the President. The adjustment committee shall be established April 21, 1913. All the above applies to the Boston Metropolitan District.

Signed:

JAMES J. MCKIBBEN, Secretary.

The committee of the Boston Chamber of Commerce said: The committee of the Boston Chamber of Commerce thinks it fitting to say publicly that both the committee of the telephone operators and the officials of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company have shown a deep sense of their obligation not to interrupt, if it could be avoided, an important public service.

They have been in almost constant attendance for thirty hours, and have labored with the utmost patience and fairness of spirit to reach a common ground which would be fair and honorable to both sides, and in the public interest.

JAMES J. MCKIBBEN, THOMAS R. FITZPATRICK, WILLIAM C. EWING, E. M. MORTIMER to Mayor Fitzpatrick, gave out the Mayor's message: At the close of the all-night conference, it is my belief that a peaceful settlement has been reached. It is my belief that I have been working for all the time.

'STRIKE-BREAKERS DE LUXE' SEE EARLY END TO VACATIONS

The strike-breakers de luxe, the telephone girls brought here from New York, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia and other cities to break the threatened walk-out in Boston, are bitterly disappointed at the prospect of an early return home.

The girls have been so luxuriously treated by the telephone officials, thus giving the name of "strike-breakers de luxe," that they have to think of going back and settling down to hum-drum, everyday work.

When R. H. Boggs, assistant manager, saw the girls' "gloom" at the girls' room of the Copley Hotel today, the 300 girls at breakfast all said in chorus:

"Oh, oh, oh."

Mr. Boggs said he was waiting telephone instructions from New York.

At the Hotel Victoria 100 Maine girls packed their suit cases while the gloom hovered all around them. They said they expected to get the word to go home to Fort Lauderdale and other towns as far up as Millis, and that they might have to leave Boston late this afternoon.

The girls room at breakfast time looked like the dining hall in a girls' college. The strike-breakers came down in the elevators on the Dartmouth street side of the building. The elevators ran express to the basement until every girl was brought down. The thirty supervisors, the matrons and telephone officials exercised their usual vigilance.

The "Gloom" Had It.

The girls had copies of the extra editions of newspapers relating the settlement of the strike. They read the story with gloom. They saw the finish of their Boston excursion. Their breakfast included the following items:

Omelette, Ham, Roast Beef, and Ham.

GIRLS WILL VOTE TOMORROW ON TERMS OF AGREEMENT REACHED BY ARBITERS.

Associated Radio.

This week would cost an ordinary patron from $1.50 to $1.80. At the end of breakfast Mr. Boggs rose, walked to a platform and started to speak. He was interrupted by applause. Mr. Boggs is popular with his charges. He said:

"Just a word, girls, relative to your going home. I hope I take it from your demonstration that you don't want to go home. Let me put it in form of a question. Do you want to go home?"

Sadly Disappointed.

All—No, no, no.

Then Mr. Boggs directed all the supervisors to go to Room 101 to await instructions from New York, and for the girls to return to their rooms, keep quiet and not talk to any reporters or other outsiders.

"We will give you notice as soon as we hear what is to be done," he said. As the girls clustered at the elevators one was asked by a reporter:

"You seem badly disappointed?" "Yes, we are," said the girl frankly. "You didn't expect that kind of treatment in Boston, did you?"

"Well," replied the girl, "we haven't been prisoners. We have had all the freedom we wanted. We didn't want to go out in the streets and be hounded at."

TODAY THE THOROUGHFARE SALE ADVERTISING TOUCHES FIRST FLOOR

Yes, it only touches the comprehensive and diversified merchandise-and price-attractions on the main floor.

Physical conditions and the cost of newspaper space prevent us from doing more than to suggest the chances to save money that abound there.

More interests are assembled on the first floor than on any other. The character and the variety of the displays hold a strong personal appeal. Therefore, the offerings should bring the greatest crowd of buyers to the store since Monday. Our faith in the thrift and forethoughtfulness of the community convinces us that Friday's response will be tremendous.

THE SILK STORE

JAPANESE WASH SILKS . 59c
36 Inches, Value 75c. Thoroughfare Sale Price
"Japanese" Wash Silks are made within a short distance of Boston. But they don't bear any blood kinship to the soft, fine, lustrous weaves that come from the Flowery Kingdom. These are the sure-goods Japanese fabrics in beautiful stripes.

STAPLE FOULARD SILKS . 59c
36 Inches, Value 80c. Thoroughfare Sale Price
Typical designs, meaning quiet, neat, unobtrusive printings on black and navy grounds. Novelty weave after novelty weave come and go, but Foulard is never pushed out of Fashion's sunshine, where it basks season after season.

COLORLED MESSALINE SILK . 69c
36 Inches, Value 85c. Thoroughfare Sale Price
Messaline holds a master position in the realms of Silks. Its simple, sensitive draping possibilities will keep it in the forefront of Fashion as long as the clingy style in dress endures. These are in black, street and all the evening colors.

BLACK MESSALINE . 98c
36 Inches, Value $1.50. Thoroughfare Sale Price
Soft texture and extra high lustre.

GLACE TAFFETA SILKS . 89c
36 Inches, Value $1.50. Thoroughfare Sale Price
These Glace-Chambrisee Taffetas are always in demand and it's one of the most unexpected trade happenings that permits us to offer you the regular $1.50 quality at 89c. Many color combinations—soft and subdued or gay and brilliant.

RICH CHARMUSE SILKS . $1.19
40 Inches, Value $1.50. Thoroughfare Sale Price
For a long time we thought that Charmuse Silk would have to be omitted from our Thoroughfare Sale. It's hard to break the price of a scarce Silk. But our search was finally rewarded by this lot—black and fifteen colors. Quantity limited.

ALL SILK SUITINGS . $1.19
32 Inches, Value $2.50. Thoroughfare Sale Price
These Silk Suitings are ideal for street and traveling dresses. They are hard twisted and the threads won't pull or slip—remarkably durable where the elegance of silk and the excellence of a strong cloth are needed. They come in a large assortment of choice colors.

HANDSOME SATIN IRENE . $1.29
36 Inches, Value $2.00. Thoroughfare Sale Price
Some of the leading modistes in Paris and New York took to Satin Irene at first sight, and many of the costliest gowns you see are made of it. The name is purely arbitrary and conveys nothing. Ask to see Satin Irene and the charm of the stuff will impress you. All colors.

GIANTS.

Well, Steve, old boy, come on along! It's sort as here and bounds say, did you see Steve here that one a mile outside the ground? I hear ten thousand yelling fans, ten thousand cheering hoarse. You can't see who they're cheering for? It's Speaker up, of course. See how old Tristram swings that bat—the pitcher's feet are cold—There'll be more feel like he does before the season's old. You ask me why the umpire now throws out a clean, white ball? O, this just banged one over the fence—repeating, that's all. Now see old Jake take off his cap—looks slick and slim this year. No wonder Olding moves 'way out and reads that "ad" for beer.

They're Off for That Pennant Again

By W. L. DOUGHERTY

THEY'RE off!—hear the umpire calling, "Batteries for today!"—Entranced I sit in Fenway Park and watch the World Champ play. When Hooper ambles to the plate out bursts a rousing cheer. The fans recall the classy catch that Harry made last year—Hooper waits the pitcher out, is given first on balls. Who's this advancing to the plate? Steve Yerkes. Hear those calls?

Well, Steve, old boy, come on along! It's sort as here and bounds say, did you see Steve here that one a mile outside the ground? I hear ten thousand yelling fans, ten thousand cheering hoarse. You can't see who they're cheering for? It's Speaker up, of course. See how old Tristram swings that bat—the pitcher's feet are cold—There'll be more feel like he does before the season's old. No wonder Olding moves 'way out and reads that "ad" for beer.

Jake pops a foul—well, that's tough luck—still, there is going some. With Gardner, Heinie, Cady, Wood and Henricen to come. Now Heinie, make your little bow; the fans insist that you. Attached the can to J. McGraw and all his Giant crew.

Here's Carrigan, the big bull moose, defender of the plate. And Buck O'Brien—Tut, Bucko, boy, been slinging much of late? Where's Tamm today? He's right there, the third in the front row—Why, Jake has got so many wars they all can't play you know. Well, well, if he ain't smoky Joe, Hugh Bedient and Hall. There's Duffy Lewis at the tank—remember him last Fall? There's old Clyde Engle, Snodgrass' man—and Olaf Henricen, if we need Olaf in a pinch, will he repeat again? Say, Connie Mack, while you are here, what say you, sly old mink? The Red Sox crew look bad to you? They do? Yes—I don't think.
